Dear Labor:

From what I hear, part of the DOL proposed changes to IRA accounts include restricting or banning option trade.

Does DOL think I am too stupid to elect my own investments in my IRA?

I trade options from time to time, and although not my main strategy , I think I should be allowed to decide for myself when these tools make sense for me.

Those who think options are too risky for them can disallow option trading in their own account. In fact, by default option trading is not available until one specifically ask for it.

Give the people the choice!

Thanks you

Tal

Sincerely,

Mr Tal Mor
